Gettysburg Address notes

Gettysburg Address by Abraham Lincoln, delivered in 1863, is a short speech of about two hundred seventy words.

Reading aloud: pause after each sentence, and keep the names Abraham Lincoln and Gettysburg accurate.

This note is background material for the transcription test suite. Speakers pause, repeat themselves, and change topics in long recordings, so a reviewer needs the timestamps and the surrounding lines before deciding whether a suggested change is right. Typical mistakes include homophones, inconsistent spelling of names, and web addresses read aloud as words.

本文件僅供噪音抑制與語音轉寫流程的測試使用，內容為一般性的背景說明，並不代表任何正式的學術立場。在長篇錄音中，講者會換段、停頓與重述，因此校對人員需要同時參考時間戳記與上下文，才能判斷哪些句子需要修正。常見的錯誤包括同音字誤判、專有名詞拼寫不一致，以及把網址或書名說成口語形式。
